Principal's Message:

Welcome to summer! It sure has been a different way to end the year.

As I returned to work on June 1st after my maternity leave, I felt a buzz of excitement that usually accompanies the first day of school. However, when I arrived at the school things felt very different - quiet halls and empty classrooms were what greeted me. I realized that the anticipation

I felt was excitement about seeing the kids and getting back into the hustle and bustle of a school in its final month.

Our staff all thrive on the energy of being face-to-face with students, and that was notably absent from the building this spring. However, as I moved from classroom to classroom the first few weeks back, I found a different kind of energy. The kids were there - I just had to look a little harder. After a while, I found them: on the other side of their teacher's computer screen or coming in with their parents to pick up packages of school work to complete at home. Still others I found out and about in the community being active and looking for ways to help one another. Some I found on the phone at home, and some I ran into while shopping for groceries. It was a great relief to me to see their faces and hear their voices.

Our teachers have been working hard to prepare learning activities for the home environment. We have had to learn new things and adapt our teaching to this "new normal". We are happy to do it because we know it is for our kids. However, the greatest part of being a teacher is getting to see a smile on our students' faces when they learn something new, or to see the look of wonder and pride in their eyes when they succeed at something they struggled with before. This is the hardest part for us about this time of at-home learning. So when we get to see our kiddos face-to-face, we are so excited!

With that said, I know all of our families are anxiously awaiting news about the fall. At this time, we are working to prepare for each of the three scenarios outlined by the Ministry of Education for September. Regardless of the scenario, our team will ensure our school space is ready to keep our kids learning as safely as possible in whatever the situation is in September. When news arrives, we will keep you informed over the summer via our school division's website and social media. If you have any questions or concerns, please don't hesitate to contact me at owenadri@spend.ca.

We are so looking forward to when we get to see all our students again. Until then, we hope you get to relax and enjoy the summer months while we await further information. From our whole staff, please stay safe and healthy this summer!
